3 SIMPLE WAYS TO RE-ENGAGE YOUR BOARD — TODAY!

Is your board disengaged? Struggling to stay involved? You're not alone! Here are three quick, high-impact ways to bring them back to the table without extra meetings or major overhauls.

1. START EVERY MEETING WITH A MISSION MOMENT

Why? Most board members join because they care—but day-to-day tasks can make them forget why they're here.

- ✓ Open each meeting with a short, real-life success story from your nonprofit's work.
- ✓ Invite a client, volunteer, or staff member to share a 2-minute impact story—this keeps the mission real and personal.

2. GIVE BOARD MEMBERS A SMALL, CLEAR TASK

Why? People disengage when they're overwhelmed or unsure what to do.

Ask each board member to do one simple action before the next meeting, like:

- ✓ Share a social media post
- ✓ Invite one person to an upcoming event
- ✓ Write a short thank-you email to a donor

Make it easy: The simpler the ask, the more likely they'll do it!

3. END WITH A "ONE-WORD ROUND"

Why? It creates engagement and accountability in seconds.

- ✓ Before leaving, ask each board member: "What's one word that describes how you feel right now?"
- ✓ This quick pulse check sparks reflection, keeps members engaged, and helps you gauge their energy.
